Royal Worcester Kidfitting Corsets

meet the corsetting needs of woman in all her vocations, new and old.

If all ladies only knew the physical comfort and support as well as the improved health and appearance enjoyed by thousands of those who wear these perfect-fitting Corsets, they would agree that the Royal Worcester Corset Co. has contributed much to the attainment of woman's physical freedom. This Company engages at enormous cost the services of skilled designers, and one of these men (Monsieur Lacoute) realised the hygienic possibilities of corsetry on natural figure lines. So comprehensive is the range of styles and sizes in these Corsets that practically every type of figure is now provided for. Another important point is that the woman of small means may derive as much physical comfort from Royal Worcester Corsets as the one who can afford to buy the higher priced grades, because all have the advantage of the same skilled designer's work.

Prices, 6/11, 8/11, 10/6, 12/11 upwards

No. 860—A handsome model in dainty pink broche, with elastic top, for average figures. The low bust and free hips, together with perfect finish, make this an ideal corset for sports, dancing, etc. Price, 29/11.

MILTON uses in the month of August.

Fly Plague

Sir Frederick Treves says: "The remedy is in the hands of the people."

He is right—and MILTON is the most effective remedy. MILTON disarms the flies. It stops them contaminating food and spreading disease. They may come in their millions, but they cannot harm you if you use MILTON.

Your Food

Just add MILTON to water in proportion of a tablespoonful to a pint, and wash Meat, Poultry, Fish, etc., or soak vegetables before cooking. They are then perfectly proof against all kinds of disease, or taint which the fly, or any other insect, can spread. MILTON does not add the slightest taste or smell—it freshens the natural flavour of the food. And think of how much food this will save for you in hot weather.

MILTON

serves a hundred and one purposes, and saves you buying a dozen or more different preparations. Although a powerful fluid, it is perfectly safe—non-poisonous and non-inflammable. Needed every day in every home.

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

Next year's Punchestown Meeting has been fixed for April 13th and 14th.

Players from France, Belgium, America, and Japan are to take part in Folkestone lawn tennis tournament this week.

A general meeting of the Turf Club will be held at the Stand House, Curragh, on Wednesday next, immediately after the Curragh Races.

Lady Nelson has sold Master Royal, who won the Greenwood Handicap at Sandown, the horse's destination, it is understood, being South Africa.

Orby Blake is the name given to Mr. Croker to his yearling colt by Orby, out of Blakeney. The yearling colt to Steermint out of Simon Lass has been named Sugar Lance, and the yearling filly by Orby out of Mullion, Muggins.

ATHLETICS AND CYCLING.

IRISH ROAD CLUB.

The above club brought off a 50 miles handicap on Saturday afternoon in Blackrock Banks, under favourable weather conditions, and before an immense gathering of spectators.

Interest figured on the programme—the 2260 Yards Championship of Ireland, and the 100 yards club handicap for the West Memorial Cup, presented to the club by Mr. J. McQuillan, B.E., jointly in memory of the club, to commemorate the memory of the members who fell during the war. In the former event Captain Noel M. Kearney, Liverpool, a former scratch man, a well-judged race, coming out in the last 100 yards to win by a couple of feet. Dr. Beckett, the Pembroke champion, whilst J. V. Batterton, of the Dublin Harriers, and J. S. Brady (the latter) dead-heated for third place. The race for the club trophy turned out most sensational. Amongst the competitors was Lieutenant Trevor V. Chafe, who, previous to the outbreak of the war, was one of the best and most popular players in Ireland. In the last stages of the war he was struck with a shell, and his left leg blown off above the knee. When the starting handicap was given, supported by crutches, he received a great ovation. A vociferous cheer went up as he made his start in the competition, his prospect of success seemed lost to him, but in a great finish for the last ten yards he managed to get home a winner by a couple of yards from Lieutenant Chafe, who was third. Time—5 min. 37 sec.

Results:—
2260 Yards War Memorial Cup.—First Heat—T. V. Chafe (35 secs.), 1; A. Sarratt (55 secs.), 2; H. M. Potts (44 secs.), 3. Three others competed. Time—92 secs. Second Heat—W. V. Beaumont (12 secs.), 1; O. Armstrong (2 secs.), 2; R. D. Gibson (12 secs.), 3. Three others competed. Time—85 secs. Final Heat—T. V. Chafe, 1; O. N. Armstrong, 2; A. Sarratt, 3. Won a great race by a foot. Time 90 secs.

Handicap Hurdle Handicap—Miss Byrne, 1; Miss Rawlins, 2; Miss Stafford, 3. Also competed—Misses Lawless (Clothes Race (Club)—Mrs. Brown, 1; Miss Rawlins, 2.

100 Yards Open Handicap.—First Heat—Jim Mooney (5 secs.), 1; F. A. White (17 secs.), 2; F. Colclough (32 secs.), 3. Fifteen competed. Time—87 secs. Second Heat—L. Egan (27 secs.), 1; Miss Stafford (5 secs.), 2; Molesworth (20 secs.), 3. Fourteen competed. Time—90 secs. Final Heat—Jim Mooney, 1; T. Love (5 secs.), 2; P. Walsh (25 secs.), 3. Thirteen competed. Final Heat—Jim Molloy, 1; M. Hickey, 2; Dr. Beckett, 3. Time—87 secs.

Water Polo—Pembroke v. Clontarf—The match being a League one, both sides played their best representatives, and a very good game ended in a draw, the score being two goals each.

Tug-o'-War—Pembroke beat Clontarf by two pulls to nil.

THIS WEEK'S TRIPS BY THE "RED LINE" CHAR-A-BANC.

CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

WOLVERHAMPTON, SUNDAY NIGHT.

Another heavy week's racing commences at Dunstall Park to-morrow, where interesting sport is promised for the opening afternoon. A fair number of horses are under orders, but the course is in a somewhat hard condition. For the principal event, the Wyfold Handicap, C.P., Clipstone, Somerset Lassie, Home Fire, and Charmarmin hold the best chances, and C.P. on the Windsor form may win. My full selections are:—Kingswinford Handicap—Laugh. Stainton Plate—Landowner. Summer Handicap—Colandine. Wyfold Handicap—C.P. Shifnal Plate—Jeanie Shields filly. Netherton Plate—Wildfellow.

YACHTING.

DUBLIN BAY SAILING CLUB.

Rarely do we find the conditions of weather, wind, and water so perfect as they were in the Bay on Saturday afternoon. Everybody knew how fine the weather was, and add to this a grand and fresh breeze from a point north of west, with smooth water everywhere—what more could be desired? The day's sailing responded to the occasion. It was fine-class of its kind, and if it does not stand out as one of the season's events, it was a colourful, interesting, and exciting day's sport, a credit to the Club, and a delight to all who participated. It was a day to be remembered by all who were out in the Bay, whether as competitors or spectators. Everything was in favour of a good start, and with Hool in the runs were hit off.

The Irish Times.

MONDAY, AUGUST 18, 1919.

According to a telegram from Budapest, the new Hungarian Ministry has now been sworn in.

The French newspapers continue to comment adversely on the new Anglo-Persian agreement.

A telegram from Copenhagen says that Maxim Gorki has been captured and shot by the troops of a Lettish Communist.

At the annual Conference of the National Union of Scottish Mine-Workers at Ayr on Saturday a resolution was adopted in favour of a five-day week for all Scottish miners.

The Conference of the National Socialist Party yesterday at Northampton declared against the dictatorship of Lenin and Trotsky and their fellow-Bolsheviks, and pronounced in favour of the peaceful emancipation of India from British domination at an early date. Mr. Jones, M.P., spoke against Sinn Feinism.

It was after four o'clock on Saturday morning before the troops were withdrawn from the scenes of rioting in Derry. A crowd in Butcher street, which had broken nearly all the shop windows in the street, were, with difficulty, prevented from looting purchasers' premises. The public-houses were closed all day on Saturday, and the rioting was not renewed.

The Navan Outrage.

There are some signs of a popular revolt against the present campaign of crime and terrorism in Ireland. We may hope that they will be multiplied as a result of the latest outrage in County Meath. This was of a new order—a deliberate and successful attempt to wreck a train—and it was not less flagitious because no lives were lost. It is believed that at least half-a-dozen men must have combined to remove the heavy section of rail. By an extraordinary piece of good fortune the engine took the rails again on the other side of the gap, and the driver and fireman escaped with a shaking, instead of being killed outright or maimed for life. Thirty wagons in the long goods train were reduced to matchwood, and the business of a whole countryside has been obstructed and delayed. The outrage does not appear to have been political in the sense in which the recent murders of policemen were political. The evidence suggests that it was a development of the strike of agricultural labourers which threatens to ruin the prospects of a bounteous harvest in the fertile counties of Meath and Kildare. We need not discuss the merits of the dispute, but the nature of the strikers' conduct is not open to question. Organised efforts have been made to force the farmers to submission by the "holding up" of all their seasonal activities, including the sale and shipment of their cattle. The strikers have been largely successful in closing the markets and port of Dublin to the Meath farmers, and it seems that, towards the end of last week, the latter took steps to send their cattle across the Channel via Belfast. It is suspected that the outrage between Navan and Beaupare was designed for the destruction of a cattle-train from Navan to the North. The plan—if, indeed, that was the plan—failed; and on Saturday twenty wagon-loads of cattle were despatched, under police protection, from Trim to Belfast. The strike not only is inflicting the gravest injury on the agricultural prosperity of Meath and Kildare, but is diverting a most valuable traffic from the port of Dublin. It is almost certain that the fullest concessions by the farmers would not repay, or half-repay, the labourers for the permanent impoverishment and loss of work which this strike must involve. Serious as it was already, the whole business is made still more deplorable by last Saturday's affair. Political crime, unhappily, as no new thing in Ireland. Industrial crime—deliberate and callous outrage for the sake of scoring a point in a dispute between employers and workers—is a novel and truly disturbing phenomenon. It marks a new stage in the nation's moral decadence. It means that political lawlessness, becoming more prevalent and audacious with prolonged immunity, has upset all the old notions of right and wrong. There was not even a false glamour of political idealism about this last outrage; it seems to have been cold-blooded crime committed in a commonplace struggle for increased wages. As all thoughtful minds foresaw, political Bolshevism is paving the way for industrial anarchy. Irishmen cannot have one code of morals for their relations with an unpopular Government, and another for their relations with their fellow-Irishmen. The flood does not discriminate between its victims when once the containing barriers have been broken. The Navan outrage is a danger-signal for decent Irishmen of all creeds and parties—especially for those who have the nation's spiritual welfare in their charge.

The Persian Agreement.

The new agreement between Great Britain and Persia will do much to stabilise the condition of affairs in the Middle East. During the Peace Conference little was heard of Persia, although a mission from Teheran was in Paris. The chief objects of the agreement are the improvement of Anglo-Persian relations and the promotion of Persia's prosperity and advancement. To these ends Great Britain promises to respect the integrity of Persia in every way; to provide experts, who shall advise in Persian Administration; to lend Persia officers and to provide equipment for the establishment of an adequate military and police force in the country, and to provide a loan; to help in opening up the country by improved communications. Furthermore, Great Britain and Persia mutually agree to the appointment of a joint committee to reconsider and revise the Customs tariff. In a covering letter the British Minister at Teheran promises that Persia shall receive compensation for damage done to the country during the war; that her frontiers shall be rectified; and that all existing agreements shall be revised. The loan will be for £2,000,000. It will be issued at 7 per cent., and will be redeemable in twenty years. Also, it will be provided in equal parts by the British Treasury and the Government of India. Persia is about to stand again on her own feet, and, with the friendly co-operation of Great Britain, her prosperous future will be assured. The young Shah has left Teheran en route for England. He is anxious to visit these islands, and, by his visit, to strengthen still further the bonds of sympathy and friendship which exist between his own country and that of his powerful neighbours in the Middle East.

We were always anxious to conciliate Russia in the East, and for that reason signed the 1907 Anglo-Russian Agreement, which divided Persia into a Russian and a British sphere of influence. This step was tantamount to the partition of Persia, and the agents of the Tsar did not behave very generously towards the people in the Northern provinces which fell to Russia's share. The result was that Persia was torn internally by chaotic conditions, and that her people became hostile to both Britain and Russia. The advent of the war found these two Powers on the same side, and Persian sympathies leaned towards the Central Powers, more especially, no doubt, as the Hamburg-Bagdad Railway seemed at one time likely to become established. During the war, however, Russia saved Persia from revolution and from invasion by Kurds and Turks. She also kept the young Shah on his throne. With the advent of Bolshevism the situation underwent a change. British forces were sent to the Caspian from Mesopotamia, in order to prevent the invasion of Persia by the "Red" armies. A cordon of our troops along the Afghanistan frontier protected her in the East, and our victories in Mesopotamia relieved her of anxiety in regard to a Turkish invasion. Thus Great Britain, to a large extent, has saved Persia from annihilation. It is, therefore, natural that she should turn now to Britain for assistance in re-establishing herself as a sovereign State and in developing her resources to their best advantage. From our point of view such an arrangement as that which has been concluded is admirable. The only possible land route to India lies through Persia and Afghanistan. A friendly Persia whose integrity is guaranteed by Great Britain will consolidate all our manifold interests in the Middle East, and will form a strong link between our Moslem subjects in India and Mesopotamia.

The only matter for regret in regard to the new agreement is the attitude of our French Allies. The French Press is frankly suspicious of our intentions in Asia Minor, and sees in the Anglo-Persian agreement an attempt to make Persia a British Dominion, in order to further our supposed plans of Pan-Arabism. The position of France in Syria is exceedingly delicate. Great Britain has never been averse from a French sphere of influence, but the rise of the Hedjaz has wrought a radical change in the whole question of Asia Minor. The British Foreign Office has no ambitions to set up what the Figaro calls an "Anglo-Mussulman Caliphate"; but the claims of the King of the Hedjaz cannot be disregarded. His help against Turkey was invaluable. In no sense can he be considered as a British vassal; but, on the other hand, it is highly essential that we shall retain his friendship in view of our huge Moslem populations. So far as France is concerned, there is no reason why any suspicions should be harboured in regard to our intentions; and France has little or no interest in Persia. It would be advisable, however, that the Government should make a clear statement of policy in regard to the whole question of the Near East. The Persian démarche must be shown to have no bearing on the position of France in Syria, and all ideas of an Anglo-Mussulman Caliphate must be dispelled. France is concerned obviously not only about her position in Syria, but also about her African possessions and protectorates. The French Press has fears of an all-embracing Moslem Empire which eventually might extend from the Atlantic Ocean to the Bay of Bengal.

Passports.

It is announced that the French Government has decided to make very considerable relaxations in regard to passports for travel in foreign countries. Many of the existing restrictions will be abolished completely. Armed with a single passport, the French traveller will be able to visit any country he chooses, except Russia and Hungary, and it will not be necessary for him to have the document reviewed more than once a year. These concessions will strengthen the demand, which has been insistent of late, for better facilities for British travellers. There is no good reason why the Foreign Office should not revise its passport regulations at once. They are cumbrous, and cause much unnecessary annoyance and inconvenience to intending travellers. A few days' delay in the securing of a passport may mean the loss of valuable orders and give a competitor a firm hold upon a market which otherwise would have been ours. Apart from trade considerations, however, a new system of granting passports is required by tourists. The interests of all holiday-makers are vitally concerned, because, if the facilities were greater for people to go abroad, the caterers at seaside and other resorts at home would be compelled to pay more attention to the needs of their patrons and to abate their extortionate prices. It is to be hoped that the Government will deal with the matter without delay. The case for a revision of the rules is unanswerable.

Wasted Energy.

A Government department has discovered that we waste energy and time quite needlessly in the ordinary routine of life, and it believes that it has found a remedy in "costings." Take the case of the domestic servant. As a result of elaborate calculations the department has ascertained that, in making afternoon tea for five persons, a servant occupies 35 minutes, during which she walks a distance of 350 feet. The time and the distance are both capable of reduction. The department suggests that, instead of keeping the tray in the cupboard, the silver in the diningroom, and the tea caddy on a high shelf, the housekeeper with a knowledge of "costings" would arrange matters so that the servant need not walk more than 34 feet. Suggestions are made also to lighten the coal carter's task. In most suburban houses, the department says, the garden paths are much too narrow. As a result, the unfortunate carter has to carry the coal from the gate to the house on his back, and 1,000 hours of labour are wasted every year. The department solemnly warns the public that some day "a powerful trade union" will "stop work as a protest against the management wasting the efforts of the workman through inadequate study of costs." We quite recognise that "costing" is a valuable and necessary operation in commercial affairs. The Government, however, might have had some pity on the taxpayers and refrained from going to the expense of getting pamphlets printed to tell us how far a servant walks when she gets afternoon tea.

NEW PRIVY COUNCILLORS.

The King has approved of the following gentlemen being sworn of the Privy Council on the occasion of their appointment as His Majesty's Ambassadors—The Hon. Sir Francis Hyde Villiers, Sir Ralph Sperard Paget, and Sir Esme William Howard. The King has also approved of the Earl of Lytton and Viscount Peel being sworn of the Privy Council.

FREEDOM OF WALLASEY FOR LORD FRENCH.

Viscount French will visit Wallasey on October 22nd, in order to receive the Freedom of the town.

VISCOUNT GREY OF FALLODON.

The Press Association has been informed by the Foreign Office that the announcement as to certain diplomatic appointments which appeared in some newspapers on Saturday was not authorised, and no official statement can be made at the present time. Viscount Grey of Fallodon and Cn. Ltd. has come, with the approval of Earl Curzon of Kedleston, K.G., has appointed Sir William Tyrrell to be his Private Secretary for the duration of the special mission to the United States.

REAR-ADMIRAL SIR REGINALD HALL.

Rear-Admiral Sir Reginald Hall, K.C.M.G., C.B., M.P., has accepted a seat on the Board of Barclay, Perkins and Co., Ltd. The company is one of the oldest in the brewing trade, and Admiral Hall's acceptance of this invitation will enable him to co-operate in certain reforms which may shortly be placed before the country, and with which he is in sympathy.

THE IRISH NATIONAL WAR MEMORIAL.

As announced in our advertising columns, a meeting of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce will be held in the Commercial Buildings, Dame street, to-morrow afternoon, for the purpose of inaugurating a fund in aid of the Irish National War Memorial. Amongst those who will address the meeting in support of the movement will be the Right Hon. the Lord Chancellor, the Earl of Meath, K.P., H.M.L., and Mr. N. J. Synnott, Governor of the Bank of Ireland.

PRESENTATION TO THE DUKE OF WESTMINSTER.

The Duke of Westminster was presented at Saughton Grange, Chester, on Saturday, with a silver casket, as a token of gratitude on the part of the survivors of the ship Tara and the ship Marrira, for their rescue by the Duke from the Senussi Arabs.

THE SALVAGE OF THE LAURENTIC GOLD.

Our Buncrana Correspondent telegraphs:—Good progress was made this week in connection with the salvage of the gold from the sunken Laurentic, as the weather was very favourable for the work. The boats engaged are the Admiralty salvage ships Coreena and Racer, and the diving operations are in the hands of Mr. Miller, Royal Navy, who is considered one of the best divers in the Admiralty employment. Owing to the action of the weather, and seas, the Laurentic was found to be so badly battered, and space between the different decks so compressed, that it was impossible to work in the hull. It was, therefore, necessary to break the hull up, and this was done with heavy charges of dynamite, of which several tons were brought down from Derry. It is thought that all the gold is likely to be recovered during the week-end, as full advantage was taken of the spell of fine weather. The distance from Buncrana Pier to the scene of the wreck is about 20 miles due North.

A distressing fatality occurred at a Bath farm on Saturday evening. A boy, aged ten, a visitor from Weston-super-Mare, in play, aimed a sporting gun he found on the kitchen shelf at a farmer's four years old son. The gun was loaded, and the shot blew off the top of the little boy's head.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
SUNDAY NIGHT.

The Prime Minister, according to present arrangements, will start on Wednesday for his well-earned holiday in Brittany. As Marshal Foch is also en vacances on his Breton estate—looking delightfully unmilitary, according to a snapshot of him in one of the picture papers—it is possible that the statesman and the soldier may come across each other in circumstances and costumes very different from those of their last meeting.

It is rumoured that, on his return, Mr. Lloyd George will inaugurate a campaign of national retrenchment at a great meeting in the City, and that he will refer to this all-important matter in his speech to-morrow in the House. He will certainly do so if he pays any attention to the numerous people who have been telling him in advance what he ought to talk about.

Chief among these is Lord Rothermere, who gives him some very trenchant advice on the subject in the Sunday Pictorial. In his opinion we have nearly reached the danger point in taxation, when taxes tax themselves out of existence, and the only way back to national solvency is for the Prime Minister not merely to check departmental extravagance, but to insist on a wholesale reduction of the estimates.

His suggestions certainly lack nothing in thoroughness. Mr. Churchill has already announced that the Air Forces estimates are to be cut down from £66,000,000 to £28,000,000. Lord Rothermere, who has had official experience, declares that we could have the finest air service in the world for $10,000,000. Similarly with the Navy and the Army; he would reduce them to about two-thirds of their pre-war strength.

Not only so, but there must be a drastic cutting down of the grandiose schemes of "reconstruction" upon which the Government have embarked. Even the comparatively moderate increase in the education estimates comes under the lash of the reformer, who doubts the necessity of providing "a ladder between the secondary schools and the universities." He points out, with a certain naïveté, that none of the present Parliamentary party leaders, and only three out of sixteen London daily paper editors, had a University education. I can imagine Mr. Fisher's retort—I dare not repeat it.

It is easy to say hard things of University education, but at least it gives one an opportunity of learning how other nations have tackled the eternal problems of Government (the thorniest of which are concerned with finance and taxation) and of formulating principles which help one to solve the same problems when they arise again. Our present difficulties are largely due to the fact that so many of our leaders, not having had the historical training, have been tempted to resort to opportunist methods.

It is some comfort to remember that our present troubles strongly resemble those which followed the great Napoleonic war. Last Saturday was the centenary of Peterloo. The sufferings of the working classes, due to the high price of food and the lack of employment, had led to a movement in favour of Parliamentary reform. A vast crowd at Manchester, being suspected of having assembled to provoke an armed insurrection, was attacked by the cavalry, with the result that six persons were killed and many injured.

Things are not likely to come to the same pass nowadays. Parliament is now elected on a very wide franchise, and is only too anxious to find remedies for any distress. But the real remedy lies with the people themselves. As soon as they realise that war-time wages cannot be maintained without an increase in industry, and that no "Profiteering" Bill can permanently bring down prices, unless and until the present orgy of spending comes to an end, then the country will be on the road to increased prosperity.

The events of the last few days have made the imperative that the Prime Minister shall devote some part of his speech to Ireland. But whether he will feel in a position to say anything much more definite regarding its future system of government than he has referred to the subject is doubtful. Probably he will content himself with saying that a scheme will be drafted during the recess, and presented to the House of Commons when it reassembles. It may also be worth mentioning that it is doubtful whether we shall have the names of the Speaker's Committee on Federal Devolution before the recess starts. It is to be a Joint Committee of Lords and Commons.

There are not fewer than 161 questions on the Order Paper of the House of Commons to-morrow, members being evidently anxious to get in their inquiries before the House rises. This will probably be on Tuesday or Wednesday at the latest, as a token vote on account will be taken as Vote on Account will be taken as the Commons to get away from London. Only half-a-dozen amendments to the "Profiteering" Bill have been handed in. One of the two Government amendments standing in the name of Sir Gilbert Milner has an interest for journalists, for it provides that "a fair and accurate report in any newspaper of any proceedings held in public under this Act shall, if published contemporaneously, be privileged." Whether this will save many arise on the word "contemporaneously," which obviously must not

GOVERNMENT GRANTS FOR TRAINING.

During the week ending August 15th, the Grants Committee of the Ministry of Labour has sanctioned the giving of 316 grants to ex- Government servicemen for training ex-service men in the higher education for civil careers. The total number of grants sanctioned to date is now 3,094, of which 1,551 are for officers, and 1,743 for other ranks.

ROYAL COMMISSION ON AGRICULTURE.

The Press Association understands that it is probable that the Royal Commission on Agri- culture which has hitherto deliberated in pri- vate will be open to the Press and public. The Commission, which commenced its sittings on July 23, has held six meetings. Its seventh will be held to-morrow.

FIFTH (ROYAL IRISH) LANCERS.

TRIBUTES AT REUNION DINNER.

Twenty-two men, who fought with the 5th (Royal Irish) Lancers at Mons in August, 1914, were present at a re-union dinner of the Regi- mental Old Comrades' Association, held on Saturday night at the Holborn Restaurant. Many past and present officers and men were present, including Lieutenant-Colonel H. A. Cape, D.S.O., who presided; Brigadier-General J. B. Jardine, Brigadier-General O. K. Chance, Major Chance, Lieutenant-Colonel H. F. McTag- gart, D.S.O.; Colonel Harvey, D.S.O., Major G. J. Burridge, Major Faudel-Philipp, Captain J. A. Botten-Pool, D.S.O.

Lieutenant-Colonel Cape said that the regi- ment went to France in August, 1914, and re- turned in March, 1919, and during that period they saw a great deal of hard fighting, much of it with the infantry. They were used for every conceivable job, including infantry, engi- neers, pioneers, builders, and agriculturists, and even as inland water transport, though they both began and ended the war in their legiti- mate job. They fought at Mons in August, 1914 and on Armistice Day they entered that same town in full pursuit of the Germans—the only im- perial regiment that achieved this wonderful distinction. He added that Mr. Caton Wood- ville's picture of the entry into Mons, exhibited at the Royal Academy, contained actual por- traits of officers and men of the 5th Lancers, and was now the property of the regiment. He also stated that a history of the regiment's part in the war was being compiled by Colonel Harvey.

Brigadier-General Jardine, who commanded the regiment for a year early in the war, said the 5th did not think that any regiment covered itself with more glory throughout the campaign. That was largely due to the training in the esprit de corps, which was not a thing to be manufactured at war. He only wished there was more esprit de corps in the military. He added that the 5th Lancers were always a match for the Uhlans. When the 5th Lancers charged the Uhlans invariably gave way, and left their lances behind them.

DERRY LABOUR UNIONISTS.

OPPOSITION TO FEDERAL HOME RULE.

At a special meeting of the Executive Com- mittee of the Londonderry Branch of the Ulster Labour Unionist Association, the ex- pect of Home Rule and Federal government was discussed at length, and the following resolution was unanimously adopted:—

That we, the members of the Londonderry Branch of the Ulster Labour Unionist Association, representing the majority of the industrial workers of the city, desire to re- affirm our unalterable determination to oppose by every means in our power the application of Home Rule or any other form of Federal government, to any part of Ireland, believing that the progress and prosperity of this country depends on the maintenance of the Legislative Union between Great Britain and Ireland. We desire to re-affirm our complete confidence in the tried and trusted leader of Ulster Unionism, the Right Hon. Sir Edward Carson. We call upon the Government to re- peal the Home Rule measure at present on the Statute Book, and repudiate the right of President Wilson of the American people to interfere with the domestic affairs of this country. We also most emphatically condemn the resolutions submitted to the Irish Trades Union Congress at Drogheda on the 4th August, 1919, as being revolutionary and unan- agonistic to the best interests of Labour and the good government of the country. We condemn the introduction of party political con- troversies at Trade Union Conference. The Irish Trades Union Congress speaks only on behalf of disloyal Ireland, and has, always so frequently, in the moment of our King and country. We, therefore, disassociate ourselves entirely from the views of that body.

COMRADES OF GREAT WAR.

VICEROY TO OPEN AUTUMN FAIR IN BELFAST.

A meeting was held in the City Hall, Belfast, on Saturday in connection with the proposed Autumn Fair in aid of the Belfast Branch of the Comrades of the Great War, of which the Hon. Lord Shaftesbury, K.P., is President.

The Lady Mayoress of Belfast (Mrs. J. C. White) presided, and intimated that it was proposed to hold an Autumn Fair in Botanic Gardens Park on 11th, 12th, and 13th Sep- tember.

The Countess of Shaftesbury said that she and Lord Shaftesbury were greatly interested in the Comrades, and wished to do all in their power to make the effort a great success.

A resolution was proposed by Mr. H. L. Garrett, Lisburn (Chairman of the Committee), seconded by General Sir George Richardson, and passed by acclamation, supporting the project. Colonel Wallace, C.B., D.L., and Captain Kerr were appointed hon. treasurers, and Messrs. J. B. McGown, G. Weir, Captain Bennett, W. Johnston, and G. Croft hon. secretaries.

Lieutenant Ian kindly pro- mised to open the Fair on the first day, and the movement promises to be a great success. The ladies and gentlemen present formed them- selves into committees, and undertook to co-opt others and make the necessary arrangements.

HORSE SHOW WEEK.

Next week will be Horse Show Week, and Dublin is already beginning to get busy in preparation for it. The booking at the hotels is very brisk. In fact, it looks as if it will be difficult to accommodate everybody, espec- ially if the present spell of fine weather holds, and the great crowd of visitors will, un- doubtedly, be unusually large. It has been brought many cross-Channel visitors, who will remain until after the Show, and in the meantime there are other important attrac- tions, such as the Curragh Races, to interest them. At Ballsbridge the Show grounds are getting the final touches, and when the gates are opened on the public next week it will be found that the many hares have been better equipped or more attractive, as many improvements have been made, under the directions of Mr. Bohane, whose great experi- ence is being effectively applied in making this year's Show a notable success. The entries in all classes are extremely satisfactory, so that from every point of view the prospects for next week are very bright.

ASTRONOMICAL PHENOMENA.

Sir John W. Moore, M.D., has communicated the following statement to us:—On Saturday, the 16th inst., two interesting letters, headed "Astronomical Phenomena," appeared in the Irish Times. Of these the first was from Mr. Cecil Thornhill, of Abbey House, Drogheda. Mr. Thornhill asked: "Can any of your readers explain the appearance in the sky at 2.35 p.m. on Thursday, 7th inst., (one of the most cloudless days of this summer) of a very bright body having the appearance of a planet or star?" He further asked whether any could be found in such circumstances. The answer to his question will be found in Astronomical Notes for August, published in the Irish Times on August 1st., in which the following occurs:—"Venus is at her position of greatest brilliancy on the 13th, being nearly 17 degrees south of the sun. She is not conspicuous in the even- ing sky, and sets soon after 8h p.m. at the beginning of August. But the present is an excellent time to observe her in daylight. The best time for this purpose is between 1.30 and 2.30 p.m. She will be quite easily visible to the naked eye at that hour, or any later one between that and sunset, and once found can always be picked up if the sky be clear, and followed for several days. Any small telescope or a pair of prismatic binoculars will show her crescent, which is increasing in size, though be- coming slender, as she approaches the sun and the earth."

The second letter was from Mr. Meadows, of Thornville, Ballycogley Co. Wexford. It de- scribes the appearance of the Northern Lights last Monday night. It is interesting to note that on that night the Southern Lights Aurora Australis were seen at Melbourne, Australia. Both phenomena were, no doubt, connected with disturbances in the sun's photo sphere, in- dicated by the appearance of numerous sun spots.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

THE GOVERNMENT'S POSITION.

In a leading article, in which the speech Mr. Lloyd George will make to-day is described as a sort of Presidential message of the American type, The Times says:—Whether they know it or not, Mr. Lloyd George and his colleagues are in reality on their trial at the bar of public opinion. The nation is pro- foundly disquieted, and is not far from being deeply distrustful of the Government. It sees in them no distinct purpose, no loftiness of ideal, no consistent vigour of practice, no organic cohesion, no firm grasp upon events. It is not sure that Ministers are always truthful. It has repeatedly detected them in evasion, and it suspects them of caring at bottom for little, save the salvation of their own Ministerial skins. It wants good govern- ment, and is conscious that it has not got it. Bred in the traditions of wise and well- ordered progress, the nation is scandalised by the Prime Minister's persistent habit of delay- ing thought and action until the twelfth hour, and then of taking decisions in a panic. Touching Ireland, The Times writes:—The state of Ireland grows daily worse. For nearly two months we have urged upon the Govern- ment the need for a prompt Irish settle- ment. In confirmation of our repeated warnings there comes the news of increasing disorder throughout that country, and of consequent appeals to stronger methods on the part of the Executive. The hope that an array of military force might cow the Irish into a frame of mind compatible with the eventual acceptance of some moderate measure of De- volution has plainly miscarried. The process of government is rapidly curving in the direction of a vicious circle, in which coercion is driven to- wards—if, indeed, it be not seeking occasion for —further displays of rigour. In the meantime, distrust of the Irish Executive and of the British Government becomes more intense, and the force opposed to any reasonable settlement was stronger. Between the extremes of coer- cion and resistance the patience of the moder- ate elements in Ireland is becoming exhausted, and in despair they are drifting into the ranks of Sinn Fein. The British Government, for their part, drift, no man knows whither. If they have a policy they fail to proclaim it, and there are omissions of the dangers of delay, they show no sign of avoiding them. The Prime Minister has sought time for the formulation of an Irish policy—as though time had been re- quired for him to recognise the detrimental effect of his lack of policy upon almost every aspect of the home and foreign situation. He who has been in Paris has no excuse for failing to realise that the principal aims of an enlightened foreign and Imperial policy cannot be realised until the state of Irish question is settled. He knows, or should know, that the very feasibility of a League of Nations, with all that it implies, depends on the future of the British Commonwealth, depends upon a just solution of the Irish problem. Our relations with the United States, nay, with our overseas dominions, need a clarification of party political con- troversies at Trade Union Conference. The Irish Trades Union Congress speaks only on behalf of disloyal Ireland, and has, always so frequently, in the moment of our King and country. We, therefore, disassociate ourselves entirely from the views of that body.

IRISH PEACE.

Parliament rises for the recess, and it seems, says The Times, that the vexed question of Ire- land is to remain for an uncertain period in suspense. The Prime Minister has pledged his Government to bring forward their solution at the earliest possible moment. The wording of that pledge is precise, and, owing to the auto- matic operation of the Home Rule Act within a given time, the necessity for some early action is apparent. Nevertheless, the Government have failed to carry conviction either to the Con- ference or of their good-will. The Prime Minister, himself, has conveyed an impression of half-heartedness. He has not transparently endeavoured to avoid committing himself to any constructive principle, though he has made it clear that the Government will not be bound by the suggested measure of Devo- lution agreement in Ireland. The latter decision is a counsel of courage, but no assurance of high purpose has been expressed from the Govern- ment benches, nothing that would remove from the possibility that Ireland may be offered a solution more suited to the exigencies of Parliamentarian rather than to the needs of her people. The situation in Ireland demands from the Prime Minister something more than a grudging acceptance of a disagreeable duty. During the recess the Government must pos- force labour to prepare a new Irish policy. The old policy shows increasing signs of culminating in disaster. In view of new policy, and manifestly it can be pursued no further in time of recess, every day that silence on the intentions of the Administration is maintained settlement may grow more difficult—yet settlement is impera- tive.

PRIME MINISTER'S SPEECH TO-DAY.

The Parliamentary Correspondent of The Times writes:—The Prime Minister will make an important speech to-day on the motion for the re-appointment of the House of Commons until Wednesday, October 22. The motion is to be framed as to enable the House to have a short sitting to-morrow to hear the Royal Assent given to the Unemployment Bill and other measures. Mr. Lloyd George will speak for about two hours. He proposes to cover a great deal of ground, and, in fact, to deal with most of the domestic problems which are exer- cising men's minds at the moment. No new announcements of policy on the following urgent questions, among others—The grave state of the coal industry, the position of agriculture, the crisis in Irish affairs.

MORE IRISH DELAYS.

There is no hope of the Prime Minister's facing the admitted crisis in Irish affairs, says the Parliamentary Correspondent of The Times, with a constructive policy on the only possible basis—a wide measure of self-government. Ministers, indeed, have no Irish policy at all, save that of the buttressing up a system which is breaking down before their eyes. They are prepared, published in the Irish Devolution Con- ference, of which the Speaker is the Chair- man, but it is doubtful whether the Prime Minister will be in a position to announce the names of the Peers and Commoners who will constitute it. The last hope of the Government is to stave off an acute crisis in Ireland until next Spring, when they hope to have an agreed report from the Devolution Conference on which they can attempt legislation in the Session of 1920.

OUTBREAK OF ECONOMY.

We understand, says The Times, that the Government have under consideration drastic revision of their policy with regard to the pro- duction of airships. The rigid airships pro- gramme was revised shortly after the armistice was signed, and, so far as the Admiralty is con- cerned, was reduced to a point regarded as consistent with the Peace requirements of the Navy, and with the necessary developments in the Airship Service. It has now been decided that no further new ships shall be laid down at present, and, in a sudden access of Spartan economy, it is understood that orders were issued at the end of last week for the suspen- sion of work on a number of contracts actually in progress. What is involved in these contracts we do not know, except that at least three rigid airships are at present under construction for the Admiralty. This raid by the Government on construction work in connection with air- ships may be justified, in view of the financial condition of the country; but the disturbing feature about it is that it reverses a policy settled only recently, and that it has every appearance of having been decided upon in desperate haste. The cry for economy has been so general and so persistent that the Prime Minister has taken fright at last. If it is true, as is rumoured, that he intends to suppress the Department of Civil Aviation out of hand, he will stand convicted of petty and most short- sighted parsimony.

THE PERSIAN AGREEMENT.

PARIS PRESS AND GREAT BRITAIN.

DELEGATES HAVE NO DETAILS OF DECISION.

Commenting upon the agreement concluded be- tween Great Britain and Persia, the Petite Republique, says a Reuter's Paris telegram of Saturday, writes:—Great Britain, which has preserved all her diplomatic traditions, has just achieved a fresh conquest of Egypt, and Persia is suddenly becoming something like a dominion. Confident at first in the all-powerful action of the Peace Conference, Persia is said to have de- spatched a delegation to Paris to ask that her rights to reparation and restitution might be considered, but these questions were never ap- proached by the Supreme Council, nor by any inter-Allied commission. Doubtless, our Quai d'Orsay still regards Persia as a sphere of in- fluence to be reserved later to a great Tsarist Russia. Great Britain, on the other hand, did not wait, but took advantage of the immobility of the Peace Conference and the supineness of French diplomacy. British financiers are to re- organise the finances of Persia. British officers will remake the Persian Army, and the Persian Government will not be able to employ foreign civil servants other than British. Under these terms, and only under these, will Great Britain be reminded of the existence of the Peace Con- ference, and assist Persia to obtain pecuniary reparation and territorial restitution, which will be to the mutual interest of Great Britain and Persia.

In an article headed "The Eastern Peril," the Figaro says:—Stupefied by the Rhine pro- blem, the French Government and French public opinion have only taken a vague interest in the Eastern question. On the contrary, Great Britain, by taking steps and establish- ing secure bases, has succeeded in giving the Sheriff of Mecca the appearance of royalty and a footing towards an eventual caliphate.

The Figaro continues:—Certain British elements of desiring to oust France from these territories. Great Britain must know that the Mussulman masses have never forgotten the glorious epoch when Islam swept over the world like a torrent, which nothing could stem. There is not a single believer, from the most Europeanised to the most savage, who does not dream of revenge over Christianity, but the British agents who are carrying out with fearful tenacity this policy, which is both mad and grandiose—an Anglo- Mussulman caliphate—believe they can rely on Eastern venality in order to ward off any even- tuality. It is not for us to point out that Great Britain in this connection is only undermining her Empire. We should be wanting in the in- terest of France alone. The British are our friends and Allies, and a quarrel between brothers-in-arms has never fought side-by-side for five years, is impossible to contemplate, but we cannot conceive that millions of our subjects should go every year to seek the spiritual advice of a Sovereign who is tributary to the British, and that all French Africa should depend on some sort of ground upon a British Viceroy.

The Temps says:—The Treaty of Sevres, which was read in Article 10 of the Covenant of the League of Nations: The members of the League bind themselves to respect and maintain the territorial integrity and existing political in- dependence of all members of the League against any foreign aggression." Further on in the same Article it says: "States, Figures among States —invited to adhere to this Covenant." Under Article of the Treaty of Versailles, which con- tains the Covenant of the League of Nations, and has been signed by the British Parliament, the "existing political independence of Persia must, therefore, be respected. But it is not re- spected.

Continuing, the Temps says:—The security of France in the Europe of to-morrow rests partly on an engagement with Great Britain, an en- gagement included in the Covenant of the League of Nations. We cannot therefore be thought that British promises are subject to discussion, even when they apply to Asia.

PERSIAN DELEGATES WITHOUT INFORMATION.

A Press Association telegram from New York on Saturday says:—The Correspondent of the As- sociated Press in Paris telegraphs—The Persian Minister, who is headed by Alqusoll Khan, Minister for Foreign Affairs, is in ignorance of the details of the agreement signed between Great Britain and Persia, all negotiations having taken place in Teheran. Not all the news received by the Mission being a simple one by telegram, that an agreement had been reached. The Mission declined to discuss the arrangement in the absence of further information, but one delegate said that he thought the agreement must necessarily provide that Great Britain guarantees the independence of Persia, which was one of the three demands which the Mis- sion presented to the Peace Conference.

As the delegation was aware, the Peace Conference had taken no decision whatever re- garding Persia. The first request of the Mission for representation in the Conference was denied; the second request for a hearing on the de- mands for the political, economic and juridical independence of Persia, for the restoration of territory occupied by Russia during the war, and for reparation for the damage caused to the country, by both the Russians and the Turks, was granted, but the hearing has not yet taken place. Pending the receipt of further informa- tion, the members of the Mission suppose that the movement in no way alters the situation of the Mission as regards the Peace Conference and they are awaiting the fulfilment of the promise of the Supreme Council to hear their claims.

THE PRINCE OF WALES'S CANADIAN TOUR.

PREPARATIONS OF WELCOME IN HALIFAX.

The Press Association's Special Correspondent telegraphing from Halifax on August 16th, says:—The city has been gaily decorated to welcome the Prince of Wales, who is making his official landing here on the morrow. Provincial and civil addresses will be read at the Province Building by the Lieutenant-Governor, Mr. Callum Grant, and the Mayor, Mr. Parker.

A Reuter's Halifax telegram of Sunday says:—H.M.S. Renown, with the Prince of Wales on board, accompanied by H.M.S. Dragon and Danaide, reached Halifax Harbour to-day. The Prince is spending the night quietly, boarding the Italian warship, Conte Di Cavour, and the French warships La Somme and La Ville Dys, which have come to Halifax to welcome him. His Royal Highness also went ashore for a short time. The Prince attended Divine Ser- vice on board the Dragon, and afterwards re- turned to the Renown, where to-night the Lieutenant-Governor and the Premier of Nova Scotia, and also Sir Robert Borden, will dine quietly with His Royal Highness.

Sir Robert Borden will remain on board as the Prince's guest until his official landing at Quebec. General Currie landed at Halifax at daybreak to-day from the Caronia. He received a Civic address of welcome and a piece of plate from a number of admirers, headed by the Mayor of Halifax and the local military authorities, who were present on the quay to welcome him.

GENERAL CARRANZA AND GREAT BRITAIN.

BRITISH DIPLOMAT ORDERED TO LEAVE.

A Reuter's New York telegram of Saturday says:—The Associated Press Correspondent at Mexico City reports that President Carranza has ordered Mr. Cummins, British Charge d'Affaires at Mexico, to leave the country.

While the reason for this action by President Carranza is not specifically stated in despatches reaching Washington, it is understood to have resulted from a recent statement alleged to have been made in the House of Commons by the British Secretary for War, Mr. Winston Churchill. It is asserted that Mr. Cummins has no official status, and cannot claim exemption, so that he can do nothing but accept it.

It is expected that Britain will have recourse, at least for the present, to the good offices of the Spanish Minister, who is due to look after her extensive interests in Mexico.

A Reuter's telegram from El Paso (Texas), dated Saturday, says:—The Mexican Consul here has received advices from Mexico City stating that General Carranza will present to Congress a Message on September 1st, informing the members fully of the country's relations with Great Britain and the United States, and also that General Zuzua, commander of the troops in the Province of Tamaulipas, is sending trained forces throughout the State to where foreigners reside for their protection. The Pro- vince of Tamaulipas contains many of the oil wells situated in the Tampico district.

Reuter's Agency learns that a scheme is under consideration by the Polish Government in Warsaw for the establishment of a central wireless station in the neighbourhood of the capital of sufficient power to allow of direct communication with the whole of Europe, the eastern towns of the United States, and Western Siberia.

THE HUNGARIAN CABINET.

NEW MINISTRY SWORN.

ATTITUDE OF SOCIALISTS.

TRIAL OF RED GUARD COMMANDER.

An official Budapest telegram, via Berlin, says:—The new Hungarian Cabinet, with M. Friedrich, Bourgeoise Radical, as Premier, has taken the oath of office before the Archduke.

A Press Association Budapest telegram of August 16th says:—In the course of an inter- view, the new Hungarian Premier, M. Fried- rich, is reported to have said that three port- folios in the new Cabinet were at the disposal of organised labour, and that it depended on the Labour members themselves whether they participated in the work of the Government or not. Organised labour, he said, must realise that they could not personify whose the bour- geoise classes should send into the Cabinet.

The new Foreign Minister, M. Lovacsy, de- clares that the Government will resign on the meeting of the National Assembly. Until then it would regard as its chief task the restoration of order and security so that the elections might proceed quietly. The Government would oppose all extreme movements both of revolu- tionary machinations and demonstrations of re- action and religious intolerance. In foreign policy the Government aimed at good relations with the Entente. It was assured that the Assembly would not lead to a currency crisis, and said that out of the 1,000 million odd paper money in circulation, amounting to forty-two millions of marks, at least seven to eight milliards disappeared in hidden money, which would be brought to light by a change in the notes and brought to the banks. Herr Erxberger would give no information regarding the agreements to be made with foreign countries. Heavy penalties are provided for any contra- vention of the Minister's decrees. Several taxation bills were subsequently passed with- out debate.

GERMANY'S COAL DELIVERIES.

In connection with the deliveries of coal due by Germany to the Allies under the terms of the Peace Treaty, it is stated that the Allied and Associated Governments have realised that Germany is, at any rate for the present, unable to deliver the demanded quan- tities, and that negotiations are now proceed- ing relative to a mutual acceptable compro- mise; but no figure has yet been fixed.

A Reuter's Copenhagen telegram of Satur- day says:—A telegram from Weimar of yes- terday's date says that the bill to regulate the coal industry has passed all three readings, as has also the resolution of the Centre and Social Democrats, demanding the immediate increased coal production and its regular transport.

SPARTACIST PLOT IN SILESIA.

An Exchange Company's telegram, dated Copenhagen, Saturday, says:—A serious strike movement is threatening Germany in Upper Silesia. The strike which began a few days ago has now assumed the dimensions of a general strike. The electricians' strike is over, and now all industry is expected to stop in a few days' time. The demands of the workers are political rather than industrial, and there is no prospect of a settlement. In Beuthen in Kattowitz grave riots have taken place. There are also threatened strikes on the German rail- ways. The strike in the Ruhr coal district are extremely dissatisfied with the arrangements of the coal, and demand fresh increases of wages.

A Reuter's Copenhagen telegram of August 16 says:—A telegram from Kattowitz (Upper Silesia) says that the coal strike there is still proceed- ing. But that the electric stations at Chorzow and Zaborze, in Upper Silesia, struck this afternoon by engineer troops. That a Spartacist agitation is behind the strike is, the message adds, more than usually apparent.

VON DER GOLTZ RECALLED.

A Weimar telegram to Berlin reports that Marshal Von der Goltz has now been recalled from the Baltic, and states that he has been ordered to report at Kolberg.

NORTH-WEST RUSSIA.

NEW GOVERNMENT TO BE SET UP.

MAXIM GORKI SHOT BY LETTS.

A Reuter's telegram from Stockholm, dated August 16th says:—The Aftonbladet publishes a report from a Helsingfors correspondent, say- ing that within the next few days a new Go- vernment for North-West Russia will be formed, with General Judenitch as Minister and M. Liasonov as Premier. Prominent members of the Pskov Government will also be included.

In connection with the formation of the new Government, a decisive advance against Petro- grad is expected, which will be under Gene- ral Judenitch's command, supported by the Esthonian Army.

MAXIM GORKI SHOT.

The Correspondent of the Press Association and the Daily Telegraph, in a telegram from Copenhagen on Sunday, says:—The Forsdrts- kie Vedomosti publishes a report that the writer Maxim Gorki has been captured and shot by the Letlish Communist, Peters', troops.

THE LIBAU PLOT.

A Copenhagen message on Saturday says:—Tatiks have arrived at Libau from an Esthoni- steamer for the anti-Bolshevik front, according to the Lett Information Bureau.

A fresh Libau conspiracy, in which, among others, men of Marshal Von der Goltz's Imperial German troops are involved, has been discovered at Libau, and all the conspirators have been arrested. The Government officials were to have been carried off and forcibly ejected, including the Italian warship, Conte Di Cavour, and the French warships La Somme and La Ville Dys, which have come to Libau to welcome him. His Royal Highness also went ashore for a short time. The Prince attended Divine Ser- vice on board the Dragon, and afterwards re- turned to the Renown, where to-night the Lieutenant-Governor and the Premier of Nova Scotia, and also Sir Robert Borden, will dine quietly with His Royal Highness. Sir Robert Borden will remain on board as the Prince's guest until his official landing at Quebec. General Currie landed at Halifax at daybreak to-day from the Caronia. He received a Civic address of welcome and a piece of plate from a number of admirers, headed by the Mayor of Halifax and the local military authorities, who were present on the quay to welcome him.

DENIKIN ADVANCING.

5,500 PRISONERS TAKEN.

The Press Association's Special Correspondent at Copenhagen, in a telegram dated July 29th (delayed), states:—General Vrangel has begun a general attack of the Bolshevik front, Denekin, Kamyshin, on the Volga, between Tsaritsin and Saratoff. The Bolsheviks are falling back on Kamyshin. General Vrangel's troops are now twenty versts from the town. In two days they have taken over 5,500 prisoners. In engage- ments north-east and south-east of Tsaritsin General Vrangel's cavalry has destroyed the Astrakan- Saratoff railway at five points between Lakes Elton and Baskunchak. General Denikin's troops have captured Constantinograd, south- west of Kharkoff.

(Note.—It was reported in an official state- ment issued on August 13th that Kamyshin had been captured on July 28th.)

AMERICA AND AUSTRIA.

MISSION LEAVING THE CAPITAL.

A Reuter's Paris telegram of Sunday says:—The newspapers publish a report that the American Mission in Vienna has received orders to leave the German-Austrian capital, owing to the disappointment felt by Americans at the present state of the peace negotiations. It is reported that the Mission will not return to Vienna until the Peace Treaty with Germany has been ratified by the United States Senate.

A Perth (West Australia) telegram, dated Friday, says:—Detectives have arrested a foreigner, who is believed to be a Bolshevist agent, engaged in inciting Italians to create disturbances.

GERMAN FINANCE.

LOAN TO MEET WAR EXPENSES.

STRIKE MOVEMENT SPREADING.

SPARTACIST ACTIVITY IN SILESIA.

The Press Association's Special Corre- spondent, telegraphing from Berlin on August 17th, says:—A bill has been introduced into the National Assembly, authorising the Finance Minister to borrow nine milliards of marks, seven milliards for extraordinary ex- penditure arising out of the war and demo- bilisation, and two milliards to meet demands under the provisions of the Peace Treaty. An important amendment was embodied in the bill against the exodus of capital abroad before it was passed yesterday. It gives the Finance Minister the necessary large powers, the exercise of which must be approved by a Reichstag Committee, for the much-disputed changing of the present paper currency. The law will only remain in force until October 1st, 1920.

Herr Erxberger, Minister of Finance, ex- plained the necessity of the measure on the ground of preventing the passing of capital out of the country, and of securing hoarded money. He also drew on the tremendous in- crease of foreign notes. He assured the Assembly that the printing of the new notes would not lead to a currency crisis, and said that out of the 1,000 million odd paper money in circulation, amounting to forty-two millions of marks, at least seven to eight milliards disappeared in hidden money, which would be brought to light by a change in the notes and brought to the banks. BELFAST GRAND BLACK CHAPTER.

REPEAL OF HOME RULE DEMANDED.

The annual demonstration of the City of Bel- fast Grand Black Chapter takes place in Windsor Park on Saturday afternoon. The members of the Order assembled at the City Hall, and pro- ceeded to the Park in full regalia.

The demonstration proved one of the largest and most successful held in connection with the Orange Institution, and the proceedings were characterised by the interesting speeches. Sir Kt. John Hunt, County Grand Master, was in the chair, and the speakers included Lord Rossmore, Sir Kt. T. H. Burn, M.P., Thomas Moles, M.P., R. J. Lynn, M.P., S. McGuffin, M.P., Sir Kt. R. Tougher, etc.

The resolutions were:—(1) "We,

the Old Engine, near Dungannon, paraded Coalisland, and were dispersed by the military. Some opposition was shown, and in the endeavour to wrest the Sinn Fein flag which was being carried, one of the soldiers was knocked down, and in the melée which ensued it is alleged that several of the crowd received wounds.

After nightfall the military left Coalisland to return to Omagh, but as the rearward lorries were passing through the town volleys of stones were hurled at them. Colonel Colt received a severe blow on the forehead, which bled profusely, and a military driver had his cheek laid open by a stone. A District Inspector who accompanied the party was also struck on the back. The military did not retaliate, but before they reached Dungannon they were met by a police messenger, who urged them to return to Coalisland as serious rioting was taking place.

On reaching Coalisland it was found that a sergeant, in charge of Coalisland Police District, had been dangerously wounded by stone throwing, and having been rendered unconscious had been conveyed home, where he was attended to by Dr. J. W. Scott and two Roman Catholic clergymen. No further attempt was made to interfere with the military, and after parading the streets for some time they left for Omagh.

The condition of the sergeant remained unchanged at a late hour on Saturday evening. He is suffering from concussion of the brain.

'BAYONET CHARGE IN FINTONA.

Proclamations were posted up in Omagh district on Thursday evening last, prohibiting Sinn Fein demonstrations in Omagh, Fintona, Dromore, and Sixmilecross on Friday, but the only meeting announced to be held was at Fintona. To enforce the observance of the proclamation in the latter place, a strong force of military and a body of police, under a District Inspector, were despatched on Friday morning.

After Mass a crowd of about 300 people, which had assembled in the vicinity of the Roman Catholic church, was dispersed without any difficulty. Shortly afterwards as the District Inspector was motoring down the street a large stone was thrown from a crowd about the railway station, but luckily, it passed between the driver and the District Inspector without doing any damage other than denting the pipe of the petrol pump.

The police then proceeded to clear away the crowd, and they tried to do so without using force. The crowd refused to move, but stood jeering at the police, and there were shouts of "Up the Republic!" "Up the rebels!" A body of military came along with fixed bayonets, and the police joined them in a charge.

The Constabulary used their batons, upwards of ten people receiving injuries. One man had to have four stitches put in a wound on his head.

Four arrests were made, including, it is stated, the person who threw the stone at the District Inspector. The town did not resume its usual quiet until after 11 o'clock.

OUTRAGE NEAR SKIBBEREEN.

FARMER'S HOUSE BOMBED.

Our Skibbereen Correspondent writes:—Shortly before one o'clock on Friday morning a dastardly outrage was perpetrated at Lisacree, Church, Skibbereen, when the dwelling-house of a respectable farmer named Denis Cadogan was bombed by a party of civilians, none of whom has been identified.

Mr. Cadogan states that the household had retired for the night. His wife had just gone to bed, but the light had not been extinguished in the bedroom, when she awakened him and told him that she had heard the footsteps of men around the house, and that there was something on outside. He immediately jumped out of bed, thinking that the cattle had been let loose, and, on opening the window, he heard footsteps, as if parties were running away. Immediately there was a deafening explosion right below the window. When the occupants of the house—Mrs. Cadogan, her niece, and Mr. Cadogan—recovered from the shock they found that a bomb placed on the window sill outside had exploded, shattering the window. A volume of smoke, he said, issued through the room. He ran downstairs and found the window sashes smashed and the parlour full of smoke and on fire. They put out the fire with buckets of water and wet cloths, and reported the matter to the police.

The District Inspector and a number of policemen visited the scene of the outrage yesterday, and are actively inquiring into the affair.

Asked if he could assign any reason for the outrage, Mr. Cadogan replied in the negative.

THE ILLAUNBAWN MURDERS.

ENNISTYMON MAGISTRATES' RESOLUTION.

At the Ennistymon Petty Sessions, held on the 13th inst., before Messrs. G. H. Mercer, R.M. (Chairman); H. V. Macnamara, John Melmerney, and Dr. Peter O'Dwyer, the following resolution was passed:—

"That the Magistrates, assembled at Ennistymon Petty Sessions on 13th August, 1919, desire to place on record our abhorrence at the dastardly, cowardly, and brutal murder of Sergeant Riordan and Constable Murphy within a short distance of Ennistymon, and we desire to convey to their relations our respectful and heartfelt sympathy at their bereavement, and we also desire to express our admiration of the steadfastness and courage displayed by the Royal Irish Constabulary under the very critical and disturbed conditions which exist at the present time in this country."

ANOTHER CLARE R.I.C. BARRACKS ATTACKED.

A Press Association telegram states:—The Royal Irish Constabulary barracks at Tuben (?), County Clare, was attacked by armed men on Saturday morning, at half-past one. A brisk fire was maintained for about fifteen minutes. The police replied, after which the attacking party withdrew. No casualty occurred on either side. Up to the present no arrests have been made.

REPORTED SHOOTING NEAR QUEENSTOWN.

The Press Association Queenstown Correspondent says, with reference to the report that Rocky Island, in Queenstown Harbour, was fired upon recently by a party from the mainland, inquiries made of the military authorities at Queenstown yesterday elicited the reply: "There is no truth whatever in the statement, as far as we know."

COMPENSATION CLAIMS IN KERRY.

Notices have been served on the Tralee Rural Council on behalf of Sergeant Oates for £2,000, and on behalf of Constable O'Connell for £1,000, for personal injuries received by both at Garrahies, West Kerry, while on patrol duty on the 24th June. The Ballinrig Co-operative Creamery Company, North Kerry, are applying for £4,274 10s. for the alleged malicious burning of their creamery, and John Carroll claims £1,000 compensation for the burning of his shop and stock attached to the creamery.

TANKS ARRIVE IN DUBLIN.

The special steamer Palmina arrived at the port of Dublin on Saturday with some half-a-dozen more tanks, and a number of motor vehicles of a Government description. The "tanks," which were lifted out of the ship by the 100-ton crane, were "formed up" at the Alexandra Basin quayside yesterday. They are of the smaller variety, and popularly known as "whippet" tanks. Their destination in Ireland was not stated, but they are of the handy type, which could be piped up and down and railed to any part of the country. On her outward trip from Dublin the Palmina is taking away a large number of military motor cars.

NATIONAL SOCIALIST PARTY.

"DIRECT ACTION" DENOUNCED.

USE AND ABUSE OF THE STRIKE WEAPON.

The second annual conference of the National Socialist Party was opened in the Twentieth Century Hall, Northampton, on Saturday. The delegates were welcomed by Alderman Pitts and Mr. Ward, of the local Labour Party.

Mr. W. Thorne, M.P., as the provisional chairman, opened the proceedings. He said that the war had imposed on all the peoples of the civilised world heavy burdens, the heaviest of which, and the one which included all others, being the duty of social, political, and industrial reconstruction. The old social order and the old political and industrial relations were in the melting pot. He did not think that he could be accused of being an alarmist when he said that within the next year or two they who were seeking to discharge their duties and obligations as Socialists and Social Democrats, would be called upon to deal with the most important and most complex and difficult problems that they had ever been called upon to face. The plain truth was that the war had carried them right into a period of social revolutionary change, a period of acute political and economic crisis. The dominant need, as it appeared to him in the present situation, was the development of good, disciplined, educated, and organised democracy, capable not only of resisting and overcoming the forces of conservatism, "profiteering," and reaction, but also of pushing forward a definite Social Democratic policy of real industrial reconstruction.

"DIRECT ACTION" CONDEMNED.

To every form of anarchism, whether it were called by its real name or disguised as "Bolshevism" or "direct action," they as Socialists were resolutely opposed. (Cheers.) The anarchist road of "direct action" was invariably ended in failure, and invariably led to inaction. A section of workers might happen to succeed in establishing better conditions for themselves by direct action, but sooner or later, generally sooner, the most successful strike proved that they left the power of monopoly untouched, with absolutely no permanent advantages to workers, as a whole, or to the community. The right to strike must never be given up. It was the workers only assurance to the threat of lock-out, but it was a clumsy weapon. It was not a constructive force, and its use should not be exaggerated. The workers must realise that national, social, and co-operative industry provided the only possible basis of permanent advantage. He gladly acknowledged the good work of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, but the nationalisation of coal mines, or of any other industry, however desirable, was not, of course, an end in itself.

BOLSHEVISM.

Alluding to international affairs, Mr. Thorne said that the best guarantee against war was the growth of common interests and the encouragement of fraternal understanding between the democratic peoples. The delegates would unite with him in the hope that the forces of democracy in Russia would soon be able to assert themselves, and to establish the representative Constituent Assembly outraged by the Bolsheviks. It was regrettable that certain persons, whose past connection with the Socialist and Labour movement might have taught them better, had been openly approving of Bolshevist methods, and expressing their approval in the name of British Labour at home. Mr. Bernard Shaw, a member of the A.S.E., spoke on the use and abuse of the strike weapon. To abuse at the present time would split up the Labour union movement. The demand of the miners, however unfortunate in view, might react on every other industry. Neither the miners nor the transport workers had any right to hold up the country by the throat and wring concessions any more than had the capitalists.

After further discussion the resolution on production was adopted.

NATIONALISATION OF MINES.

LENIN AND TROTSKY DENOUNCED.

MR. JONES, M.P., AND SINN FEIN.

The Conference was resumed on Sunday. Mr. Ernest Wright presiding.

Mr. H. M. Hyndman moved the following resolution from the Executive:—"This Conference heartily supports the recommendations of the Coal Commission in favour of the nationalisation and socialisation of the coal industry, and warns the coal-owners and capitalists that their antagonistic agitation against the resumption by the people of their own national property may justly deprive the existing minority of any compensation whatever."

Mr. C. J. Scott (Northampton) moved to delete all words after "coal mines."

On a division the amendment was negatived, and the original resolution adopted with one dissentient.

LENIN AND TROTSKY DENOUNCED.

In a resolution on "Democracy versus Dictatorship," the Executive asked the Conference to declare "that the National Socialist Party is opposed to all dictatorships, whether organised by a Church, a King, or Empire, an aristocracy, an oligarchy, a plutocracy, or by usurpers such as Lenin and Trotsky, who, with most of their closest associates do not belong to the working class, yet they pretend that they have established a dictatorship in the name of the proletariat."

Mr. Hyndman, in moving the resolution, said that he had been intimately acquainted with three generations of Russian revolutionists. It was not the Bolshevists who made the revolution of 1917. They were not there. One of the greatest blunders was not to recognise that those men were the enemies of democracy when they landed in Russia, and this Conference was now asked to pass a declaration against the jumping of the machine by a small minority of the population, against the shedding of blood, and massacre in maintaining their position, however honestly or dishonestly that position had been maintained. The general population of Russia was absolutely unfit for scientific Socialism. More than 80 per cent. could neither read nor write, and they were in a state comparable to that of the European peoples in the seventeenth century. It was impossible in the nineteenth century into the twentieth by fiats from Moscow or anywhere else. Those who had attempted to enforce a new form of society by bloodshed of the most terrible description had proved themselves, not only morally wrong, but intellectually incapable. Lenin and Trotsky failed on both tests.

Mr. A. S. Headingley (London), in seconding the resolution, described Lenin and Trotsky as foreigners to the Socialist movement, and as interlopers sent to Russia by Germany. They, with about 400 others, were sent from Switzerland to play the German game. Support of Bolshevism meant support of German militarism and of international capitalism.

Mr. L. Rippon (Burnley) moved to omit all words after "mines," with a view to exclude the reference to Lenin and Trotsky.

On a division, the amendment was negatived, as was also a similar one from the South West Ham branch.

The original resolution was adopted.

IRELAND AND INDIA.

Mr. F. J. Gould (London), speaking to a resolution moved by Mr. Hyndman, declaring in favour of the peaceful emancipation of India from British domination as an early date, expressed surprise that no reference was made to Ireland.

Mr. J. Addison (Aberdeen) said that he was instructed by his branch to support the demand for the emancipation of India from British capitalism.

Mr. Jack Jones, M.P., said that he thought that the Conference was being asked to give the benediction to Sinn Feinism. They were asked to say in effect that the principles of Sinn Feinism were justifiable.

Mr. Hyndman—In India, undoubtedly.

Mr. Jones—I say Sinn Feinism is not justifiable anywhere. It is objectionable in any form of capitalism, but British capitalism is as good as any other. The biggest sweaters I have known have been Irishmen, my own countrymen. I have known them as the biggest slave drivers in this part of Europe and extreme Nationalists at the same time.

Mr. Jones supported an amendment for granting a measure of self-government for India.

This was rejected, and the original motion was carried.

Other resolutions had relation to education, housing, and proportional representation.

The next Conference is to be held in London.

NEW DEAN OF LISMORE.

The Board of Nomination for the Cathedral Parish of Lismore met at the Diocesan office in Waterford on Friday—the Bishop of Cashel presiding—when the Rev. George William Greene, M.A., Rector of the Union of Kilmeaden and Killotteran, was unanimously nominated to the Incumbency, and the Bishop has conferred upon him the Deanery of Lismore.

THE AFGHAN CAMPAIGN.

AN OUTBREAK OF CHOLERA.

CHARGES AGAINST MEDICAL SERVICE.

Serious allegations made in the Press and the House of Commons as to the arrangements for the health and provisioning of troops on the North-West Frontier of India during the summer campaign are dealt with in a White Paper issued on Saturday. The most serious charges dealt with the outbreak of cholera, to which over 100 deaths in the Sixth Brigade were attributed. The Viceroy reports at length on the situation in a series of telegrams, in which he refutes the allegation, but makes important statements as to the danger of the military situation.

Cholera is epidemic among the civil population in the whole area of operations, says a telegram of August 5, and there has been the presence of large numbers of recently enlisted transport and other followers without any adequate system of inspection, sanitation, or "water discipline," or ideas of sanitation, together with insufficiency of supervision owing to shortage of experienced British officers and personnel.

Arrangements for immediate supply of pure water in such a terrain are impossible to supervise in the case of troops compelled to march during conditions of abnormal heat, and it is to be remarked that absence of disease was very small amongst British troops. The number of cholera cases reported to date total 95 British and 1,374 Indian, mostly followers—that is to say, 0.59 per cent. and 0.88 per cent., respectively, of total numbers employed.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES.

Protective measures were initiated before outbreak occurred. Supplementary piped-water supply commenced, but work hampered by shortage of pumps and pipes demanded from England, Mesopotamia, and elsewhere. Water for troops chlorinated. In most cases incidences of disease occurred amongst followers, and news of outbreak was immediately reported to you on July 9, periodical reports as to course of epidemic being telegraphed thereafter. News of the outbreak was purposely not published in Press for military reasons, and we approve of this action. It would have encouraged Afghan morale if news had reached them that we were hampered by disease, and it would have discouraged recruitment in India.

A CRITICAL PERIOD.

"The Afghan outrage (says the Viceroy) came upon us at a time when not only had we reduced ourselves to the narrowest margin of safety in respect of personnel and munitions of war, of which India had been stripped to support forces in Mesopotamia, Egypt, Persia, and France, but when we had still further to reduce our strength in demand to the police for demobilisation in the interest of industrial reconstruction both at home and in India. Moreover, it occurred at a time when our military arrangements had been on a certain extent dislocated by special measures necessary to preserve order in the Punjab and elsewhere, and to deal with a situation which at one time threatened to spread over India. The manner with which Afghan situation developed into a crisis and was at once followed by defection of our Frontier Militia, together with the threat of a rebellion in Peshawar itself, deprived us of the usual measure of security on which we reasonably counted to cover our concentration, since not only had the advanced echelons of our field army to be diverted to replace militia, but had actually to preserve order in the districts. Consequently, instead of being able to proceed on a deliberate system of rapid concentration, we were forced at once to send troops to every part of the frontier, and so reverse our pre-arranged plan of concentration which provided that the despatch of stores and equipment should precede that of troops.

A DELIBERATE MIS-STATEMENT.

The Viceroy says that the statement that wounded after the action at Dakka were sent with only two doctors must be characterised as a deliberate mis-statement, for it was reported to Headquarters by the Director of Medical Services with General Barrett that the majority of wounded were in the Station Hospital at Peshawar, and some actually transferred to Rawal Pindi by ambulance train within the course of the day.

"The officer in command assures me that everything that was possible was done. Outbreaks of cholera were unavoidable throughout India, and it is little to be wondered at that on the Frontier it has not been immune. We may consider ourselves fortunate that the outbreak has not been worse, for the best of discipline is not proof against the pangs of thirst, and a thirsty man, especially a follower, in an Indian clime, and warns the coal-owners and capitalists that their antagonistic agitation against the resumption by the people of their own national property may justly deprive the existing minority of any compensation whatever."

Mr. C. J. Scott Northampton) moved to delete all words after "coal mines."

On a division, the amendment was negatived, and the original resolution adopted with one dissentient.

THE WORLD'S GOLD RESERVE.

SOME INTERESTING FIGURES.

A Paris telegram, dated Friday, says:—The question of the gold reserve and the various countries of the world, as compared with the amount of paper money in circulation, has been brought to the front lately in connection with the question of the depreciation of the dollar against Great Britain, and the dollar and the pound sterling against France.

The following table gives some interesting figures and facts in connection with the problem. The following official statistics in three generations of Russian revolutionists. It was not the Bolshevists who made the revolution of 1917. They were not there. One of the greatest blunders was not to recognise that those men were the enemies of democracy when they landed in Russia, and this Conference is now asked to pass a declaration against the jumping of the machine by, a small minority of the population, against the shedding of blood, and massacre in maintaining their position, however honestly or dishonestly that position had been maintained. The general population of Russia was absolutely unfit for scientific Socialism. More than 80 per cent. could neither read nor write, and they were in a state comparable to that of the European peoples in the seventeenth century. It was impossible in the nineteenth century into the twentieth by fiats from Moscow or anywhere else. Those who had attempted to enforce a new form of society by bloodshed of the most terrible description had proved themselves, not only morally wrong, but intellectually incapable. Lenin and Trotsky failed on both tests.

Mr. A. S. Headingley (London), in seconding the resolution, described Lenin and Trotsky as foreigners to the Socialist movement, and as interlopers sent to Russia by Germany. They, with about 400 others, were sent from Switzerland to play the German game. Support of Bolshevism meant support of German militarism and of international capitalism.

Mr. L. Rippon (Burnley) moved to omit all words after "mines," with a view to exclude the reference to Lenin and Trotsky.

On a division, the amendment was negatived, as was also a similar one from the South West Ham branch.

The original resolution was adopted.

IRELAND AND INDIA.

Mr. F. J. Gould (London), speaking to a resolution moved by Mr. Hyndman, declaring in favour of the peaceful emancipation of India from British domination as an early date, expressed surprise that no reference was made to Ireland.

Mr. J. Addison (Aberdeen) said that he was instructed by his branch to support the demand for the emancipation of India from British capitalism.

Mr. Jack Jones, M.P., said that he thought that the Conference was being asked to give the benediction to Sinn Feinism. They were asked to say in effect that the principles of Sinn Feinism were justifiable.

Mr. Hyndman—In India, undoubtedly.

Mr. Jones—I say Sinn Feinism is not justifiable anywhere. It is objectionable in any form of capitalism, but British capitalism is as good as any other. The biggest sweaters I have known have been Irishmen, my own countrymen. I have known them as the biggest slave drivers in this part of Europe and extreme Nationalists at the same time.

Mr. Jones supported an amendment for granting a measure of self-government for India.

This was rejected, and the original motion was carried.

Other resolutions had relation to education, housing, and proportional representation.

The next Conference is to be held in London.

OBITUARY.

LORD INVERCLYDE.

Lord Inverclyde died on Saturday in a Glasgow nursing home, after a brief illness.

Lord Inverclyde, who was in his 56th year, was one of the kings of the shipping world. He was chairman and director of various shipping companies, chiefly the Burns Company, and the Cunard Line. In 1909 he was elected President of the Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom, and in the following year became Chairman of the Glasgow Shipowners' Association. A keen sportsman, his lordship was keenly interested in shooting, golf, and lawn tennis. Yachting, however, was his favourite pastime. He was Commodore of the leading Northern yachting club, and he succeeded by his son, the Hon. John Alan Burns, who was born in 1897.

On Saturday and yesterday, at the North Wall, Dublin, the shipping flags of the G. and J. Burns line of Dublin and Glasgow steamers were hauled down to the half-mast as a tribute of respect to the late Lord Inverclyde, who had been Chairman of the Steamship Company. The "house" flag over the Liffey-side offices was also lowered to the half-mast.

IRISH POST OFFICE CLERKS

WAR GRATUITY TO EX-SERVICE MEN.

THE AMALGAMATION QUESTION.

The deliberations of the annual conference of the Irish Post Office Clerks were resumed and concluded in the Mansion House, Dublin, on Saturday. The Chairman, Mr. John Normile, presided.

Mr Cleary (Executive) moved a resolution condemning the action of the Government in withholding the full war gratuity from the Post Office members who served in the special services during the war. They considered that a breach of contract had been committed, since the men enlisted on the definite agreement that they would be paid "full civil pay and all Army emoluments," and demanded that the full gratuity be paid forthwith.

Mr. P. Byrne (Dublin), in seconding, referred to the considerable number of members who joined up when the war broke out. At the time the Government were prepared to offer them anything for their services, but having got their services, this was the manner in which the men were treated.

The resolution, which was supported by others, was unanimously passed.

DISABILITIES COMMITTEE.

Mr. Rooney (Belfast) proposed a resolution condemning the action of the Government in setting up a Civil Service Disabilities Committee, the object of which was to provide for the Government a way of escape from the obligations which rested upon them as far as the Civil Servants matured in the war were concerned. He pointed out that if the recommendations of this Committee which had been set up were carried out it would be likely to act to the detriment of their service. The setting up of the Committee to determine the loss of efficiency in the men on their return from the war was a mean and miserable thing altogether, and it was quite consistent with the attitude of the Government right through.

Mr. Donaldson (Belfast) seconded the motion, which was carried.

CIVIL RIGHTS.

Mr. Clarke (Belfast) moved—"That this Conference demands for postal servants full civil rights." He pointed out that the Postmaster-General and others were politicians, and said that he did not see why they should not also be allowed to be politicians. (Hear, hear.) They were at present not public servants, but public slaves (Hear, hear!)

Mr. Gill (Ennis) seconded the motion, which was unanimously agreed to.

A resolution sympathising with the demand of ex-national telephone employés for more generous consideration by the Government in the matter of calculating their pensions and gratuities on retirement, and asking the Executive to take every possible action calculated to secure for them decent living after retirement from the service, was passed on the motion of Miss Brennan (Dublin), seconded by Mr. McGuckin (Tralee), and supported by the Secretary.

ALLEGED FAVOURITISM.

Mr. Allen (Belfast) moved a resolution condemning the flagrant favouritism in Post Office promotions, and demanding that advancement in the service be determined by seniority, efficiency, and good conduct.

Mr. Keane (Carlow) seconded the motion.

Mr. Byrne (Dublin) complained of the present system of promotion. Recently juniors had been put on the list and promoted to overseerships.

The resolution was adopted.

On the motion of Mr. Donaldson (Belfast), a resolution was passed that, in view of the reorganisation of the Civil Service, postal servants should press forward an immediate claim to some of the higher posts to relieve the stagnation in the ranks.

Resolutions were also passed condemning the system of merit reporting at present prevailing in the postal service, and asking for the abolition; instructing the Executive to prepare a statement for publication, with a view to educating public opinion, on the scandal of favouritism in its various forms; condemning the present system of official inquiries, which was merely a white-washing of higher officials, and demanding that appointments to the latter are made; favouring a greater number of these larger sub-offices being converted to salaried sub-postmasterships, instead of being run as at present by outsiders, to the detriment of the interests of the regular staff; demanding an increase in subsistence allowances, commensurate with the high cost of living; welcoming the future nationalisation of mines in order to give cheaper necessaries of life, and demanding that the allowance granted to officers for obtaining the professional certificates in the City and Guilds and Department of Technical examinations should be increased to £10.

Mr. Dunphy (Executive) moved that retirement with pension or gratuity be optional at any period of an officer's service, and that no officer be retained after 35 years' service. He said that it was the old fossil in the service that caused the stagnation in promotion and loss of the summer holidays.

Mr. Keane (Carlow) seconded, and Mr. O'Connor (Cork) supported the motion.

Mr. Power (Dublin) proposed an amendment that the female staff retire on full pension after 30 years' service.

The resolution was amended so as to meet Mr. Power's proposal, and it was adopted by 29 votes to 28.

AMALGAMATION.

Mr. J. D. Canavan (Manchester) extended greetings from the English association.

Speaking in favour of amalgamation, expressed the hope that in the future a real spirit of fellowship and trades union activity would exist between the Irish democracy and the English democracy. The many problems which faced the postal workers in Ireland and in England would only be faced successfully and effectively justly if the members of postal trades unionism in Ireland and in England faced them contrapuntally and dealt with them solely from the view of principle, leaving personal interests entirely outside.

Miss Donnelly Nally moved that the Executive be instructed to take steps to bring about the amalgamation of all Irish postal workers in a common union, and to enter into negotiations with the amalgamated organisations in England with a view to a closer union in postal matters provided that the interests and identity of the Irish Association be safeguarded.

The resolution was passed, with an addendum that no final steps be undertaken by the Executive without reference to all the members of the Association.

OFFICERS.

The following officers were appointed for the ensuing year—President, Mr. Normile; General Secretary, Mr. Nally; Assistant Secretary, Mr. D. Hogan; Organising Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. Cleary; Executive:—Messrs. representatives on the National Council, Messrs. Cleary, M'Mahon, and Dunphy (Dublin), Allen (Belfast), Donovan (Cork), M'Namara (Limerick), Barry (Waterford and Maryboro'), Johnson (Claremorris), Hughes (Dundalk and Derry).

It was decided that the next Conference be held in Belfast.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY FUH-KIEN MISSION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—May we invite the attention of the younger clergy and laity of the Church of Ireland to the urgent need for men to serve in the Dublin University Fuh-Kien Mission? Our responsibilities there are being largely increased by the Trinity College Foochow, which is wholly committed to the charge of men from Trinity College, Dublin, offers educational work of the highest promise alike among Christian and non-Christian lads. Many of the latter are yearly admitted to the Church; many of these are confirmed; all are trained to be a potent influence for good in their nation, which is passing through a stage fraught with the gravest possibilities for the whole world.

Our present moment all our strength is needed to cope with the claims around throughout young China by the decisions of the Peace Conference. The work of a missionary in China is one of the highest interest and value, and the Dublin men are doing it splendidly. Two more graduates are offering themselves for service, and also showing a keen sportsmanship, his lordship was keenly interested in shooting, golf, and lawn tennis. Yachting, however, was his favourite pastime. He was Commodore of the leading Northern yachting club, and he succeeded by his son, the Hon. John Alan Burns, who was born in 1897.

On Saturday and yesterday, at the North Wall, Dublin, the shipping flags of the G. and J. Burns line of Dublin and Glasgow steamers were hauled down to the half-mast as a tribute of respect to the late Lord Inverclyde, who had been Chairman of the Steamship Company. Lotus

"HERE is a pair of dry socks, McIntyre, I can spare them" said Ferguson.

"Are you sure?"

"Yes."

"Thanks, old man, but really aren't your feet as wet as mine?"

"No."

"Well, all I can say is they ought to be. My socks are soaked. Hand me that towel, please. And as a safeguard, you had better go and get us a dram apiece whilst I am changing."

"But tell me," McIntyre asked Ferguson over lunch, "what shoes are you wearing?"

"A new pair I was lucky enough to get just before coming away. They don't look like golf shoes, in fact they don't look anything particular, but they are, my word. They are waterproof right enough, yet frankly you are not more surprised than I am myself at their keeping my feet dry this wretched morning."

"Who made them for you?"

"I bought them ready-made of old Greig at home. They are, I was told, the Lotus new model."

"Were they dear?"

"No, I paid sixty bob for them."

WICKLOW BOY SCOUTS.

ANNUAL RALLY AT GREYSTONES.

The second annual rally of the County Wicklow Boy Scouts Association was held on Saturday last at Greystones, when Viscount Powerscourt, Provincial Commissioner for Leinster, inspected the Scouts of the local Association, and the Earl of Meath, Commissioner for Ireland, presented the prizes and the County Challenge flag to the Scout Troop which proved itself the champion Troop. The other principal officers were: District Commissioner Rev. R. H. Cochrane and District Scoutmaster G. S. Childs. In addition to some 60 and more land and sea scouts over their Guides, under the command of Captain Mrs. Elsner (Bray), and also some Wolf Cubs from Bray. Before the arrival of the Commissioner for all Ireland, Lord Powerscourt and his staff were met at the park gate, and both inspected by Scoutmaster G. S. Childs, who led the following troops:—Band of Bray United Troop; 1st Bray Sea Scouts (S. M. Mitchell); 2nd Bray Sea Scouts (Scoutmaster W. T. Johnston); bolders; and 1st Bray Troop (Scoutmaster Dorrell commanding). The examiners were Scoutmaster E. G. Glanville (2nd Blackrock Troop, Dublin Association) and A.S.M. Sumner. Various contests, displays, and games then took place, concluding with the Scouts' Rally, after which the Earl of Meath presented the prizes and the County Challenge flag.

LORD MEATH.

Lord Meath said that, as Commissioner for Ireland, he gave him great pleasure to witness that smart rally, and to have the honour of presenting the splendid challenge flag which this occasion had been won for general efficiency by the 1st Bray Land Scout Troop. Last year those colours were held by the Bray Sea Scouts, and he congratulated the Land Scouts on having won them. Continuing, his lordship said that their local association was a comparatively new one. It had been founded in August, 1917, and in four troops and a Wolf Cub pack it had now, in round one, and one in Arklow. There was also a parrot in Enniskerry, which, he hoped, would develop into a troop. He was sure that Hon. Powerscourt would do his best to carry out the scheme of a Wolf Cub pack in Bray. Lord Meath said that he could see that they realised the importance of discipline. They should never forget to do the daily good turn, which was as much a part of the Scout law as the observance of the Sabbath was that of the Jew. It was one of their rules to help every day as many good turns as they could to kind to others. Let them remember that the Scout law was a code of message they had got to have two knots in them, and he hoped the Commissioners and Scoutmasters would see that that rule was carried out. Their ties were the knots and the task of life. There were both ties connected by Scoutmaster G. S. Childs, who led the following troops:—Band of Bray United Troop; 1st Bray Sea Scouts (S. M. Mitchell); 2nd Bray Sea Scouts (Scoutmaster W. T. Johnston); bolders; and 1st Bray Troop (Scoutmaster Dorrell commanding). The examiners were Scoutmaster E. G. Glanville (2nd Blackrock Troop, Dublin Association) and A.S.M. Sumner. (TO-DAY'S RECIPE.)

WASTE NOT! —WANT NOT!

This Brown & Polson recipe suggests a new fish-saving idea.

FISH MOULD WITH SALAD.

2 oz. Brown & Polson's Corn Flour, 1 pint Fish Stock, 2 oz. Butter, Pepper, salt & Lemon juice to taste, grated lemon rind to taste, 3 gills milk, 1 dessertspoon chopped parsley.

Flake fish finely, removing all skin and bone. Mix the Corn Flour with a little cold milk, while bringing the rest of milk and water to the boil. Add Corn Flour and boil for 10 minutes, stirring all the time. Mix fish and seasonings with the parsley, and stir into the cooked Corn Flour. Pour into a well-greased mould. When cold, turn out and serve with salad.

Brown & Polson's "Patent" Corn Flour

packet should always be at hand in the kitchen.

LARCENY OF BICYCLES IN DUBLIN.—During last week no fewer than twenty bicycles were reported as having been stolen in Dublin.

ATTEMPTED COMBE IN PRISON.—Patrick Connolly, described as an ex-convict with a bad record, was sentenced by Mr. Cooper, K.C., in the Dublin Police Court on Saturday to one month's imprisonment with hard labour on a charge of attempting to commit suicide by hours of the morning with intent to commit a felony.

PRESENTATION.—On the occasion of his marriage on Saturday last, Mr. Joseph Kelly was presented with a solid silver tea service and tray by the staff of the London and North Western Railway Company, North Wall, Dublin. The presentation was made by Mr. A. T. Cooper, goods agent, who, in making the presentation, referred to Mr. Maguire's services as a soldier, a sportsman, and a citizen, and wished him long life and happiness.

ST. VINCENT'S SALE OF HOSIERY, GLOVES, &c.—The annual sale of hosiery, gloves, &c., in aid of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul resulted in the sum of £524 11.10, the amount last year having been £331 0.9. Seven bags left during the sale were never found, but all contained articles of no unknown value. Among the number of bags in the Orphanage is one containing a child's boots.

BRITISH CROSS-CHANNEL PASSENGER TRAFFIC.—The control of British cross-channel passenger traffic will pass from the Admiralty to the Board of Trade on Saturday next. The Holyhead boats on Saturday last carried 1,000 passengers, the Laird Line steamer Ulster, from Glasgow, 500, and the steamer Leinster, from Liverpool, 500. The Ulster, from Silloth and the Isle of Man, had 200, and had to refuse further passengers. Douglas for Dublin. The Liverpool and North Western Railway steamer Snaefell, from Scoutmaster Childs, the responses were low but hearty.

Mr. Childs, on whose shoulders the main part of the organisation of Saturday's fine display had fallen, must have been gratified by its success. The prize winners were:—Wolf Cubs' 100 Yards, P. Laine Blindfold Boxing (Inter-Troop), J. Gibson and Scout P. Fahy; Girl Guides' 100 Yards, Miss Story; Equipment Race, Troop Leader Thornton. A prize for the Scout gaining most marks in the competition was won by Scout Leader Athol Browne, 1st Bray Troop.

The Sanford Girl Cadets (Miss E. Harvey Robinson) attended by invitation.

The proceedings concluded with the National Anthem.

IRISH HARVEST PROSPECTS

In a report dated August 4th the Department of Agriculture says:—

The cold and somewhat harsh weather in late June, followed by the practically general drought in July, has unfavourably affected crops and stock. Though cereals have, on the whole, done well, the drought has caused the straw, notably in the case of oats, to be short, and in many parts of the country the grain heads have not filled properly. Flax, too, though a fair crop, is likely to be short. Potatoes have wanted rain, but the vases of blight reported are less numerous, especially in the North, than last year. As a result of the drought pastures are becoming bare, and stock accordingly body from the flames at great personal risk.

CLIMERICK HOUSING SCHEME.—The Lord Mayor presided over the Corporation meeting on Monday, when a great programme to be done as regards quality and quantity, and straw is a good length. Spring varieties have not done so well, but the crop should be up to the average. The out crop is, on the whole, somewhat less promising, though an average crop may be obtained. Barley and rye promise an average yield.

The flax has, on the whole, a good year for the quality everywhere has been excellent, and the crop has been well saved. The yield, however, especially in the early districts, is lighter than usual.

The dry weather has considerably affected potatoes, particularly early varieties, which were generally small and gave a light yield, though the quality was good. Late varieties promise a fair to good crop, and perhaps up to the average, as, although the drought would tend to reduce the yield, there is less disease than usual. In the North notably there is comparatively little blight this year.

The Prime Minister has appointed Captain William Edge, M.P. for Bolton, to be Assistant Liberal Whip (unpaid).

Barnardos were established in the year 1819.

75/6 is the remarkably low price of this PRETTY BEAR NECKLET

CARRIAGE PAID, as illustrated. It is of extra fine quality and possesses an irresistible charm, being in strict accordance with the newest fashion, and a most useful addition to any wardrobe. Taking into consideration the present high prices this model is worth at least 7 or 8 guineas. There will shortly be an advance of about 50 per cent. on all Furs, therefore, early application is advisable for the limited stock we hold at the moment of these really reliable necklets.

FINANCIAL NEWS

LONDON MONEY MARKET.

Bank Rate (changed April 5th, 1917) .....5 p.c.

LONDON, SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

The week ended quietly, but firmly, in the Money Market, where tightening up conditions have been notable since the last week-end. There was a fair demand for call money for a Saturday, and the rate kept firm around 3 per cent., though further Government disbursements were reported. Weekly fixtures were firm at 3½ per cent. to rather over. More than another three millions was disbursed in railway dividends, and there was a call of £715,500 on Harrods new shares. Discount rates were hard, and though the supply of bills was small, takers were distinctly cautious. Two months' drafts were posted at 3½ to 3½ per cent., three months at 3½ to 3½ per cent., and six months at 4½ to 4½ per cent.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

LINDSAY BROTHERS.—Interim dividend of 5 per cent. per annum.

CHAMPDANY JUTE.—Dividend of 50 per cent. for the year, making 40 per cent.

J. AND J. CUNNINGHAM.—Further dividend (in addition to interim dividend of 10 per cent.) amounting to £320,000; £16,500, and to carry forward £23,289.

EASTMAN KODAK.—2½ per cent. (being at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum) on the outstanding Common Stock.

CHARLES CLIFFORD AND SON.—Interim dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, free of tax, on the Ord. for the half-year.

JONES AND HIGGINS.—Interim dividend on the Ord. at the rate of 7½ per cent. per annum, and on the Ord. at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum.

MANCHESTER HIPPODROME AND ARDWICK EMPIRE.—Further dividend, making 10 per cent. (same as before) on the Ord. shares for both into tax.

HENDERSON'S (JOHN) ROYAL POLYTECHNIC.—Interim dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, less tax, on the Ord. for the half-year.

GLASGOW SUBWAY RAILWAY.—The directors regret that the profits available for the six months to June 30 last do not warrant the payment of any interim dividend at this time.

P. M. MACKIE AND CO. (DISTILLERS, EDINBURGH.—The available balance is £10,841, and the directors recommend a dividend of 5 per cent. for the year to June 30th, and a bonus of 7½ per cent.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Provided the promises of economy in national expenditure are fulfilled, the recovery in the gilt-edged group should not be long in coming. So says the Sunday Times, that the Government bulletin of trade for the first week in July, the commencement of ordinary work month in the Victory Loan, the Home Rule debate, the railway truce are shaping better, and the prospects of the Argentine railway companies appear much promising than for some time past. The outlook for the Rubber Share should go further, there being every reason to expect that the Rubber Growers' Association will get fair treatment from the Canadian Government. Industrials generally should receive a stimulus from the declaration of the Government trade policy. The textile companies and the leading engineering firms are well employed with full order books, and the iron panies stand to benefit greatly from the coming boom in building, in which concrete will play a very prominent part.

In the opinion of the directors of Bovril Australian Estates (Ltd.), the company should be more closely connected with Bovril (Ltd.), and they have accordingly arranged that the Deferred shareholders of the latter concern are offered shares in the Bovril Australian Estates (Ltd.) in exchange for their present holdings. In order to effect such a deal, it is proposed to issue 24,000 new shares, and the Committee have offered Ordinary Shares of Bovril Australian Estates. The holders of this class of shares are offered for each Deferred share sold to them, and pay as well any dividend declared in March next. It is also proposed to offer the holders of the Preferred Ordinary Estates Preferred Ordinary Shares of £1 each at par, which is equivalent to the present Bovril Preferred Ordinary for three 7 per cent. Preferred Ordinary in Bovril Estates.

Conditions in the Chilean nitrate industry appear to be improving, and the demand for steam tonnage is at the root of the trouble. Stocks on the coast now amount to about 50,000,000 quintals, and although there is no scarcity of vessels, companies continue to evacuate at half capacity merely to keep together a nucleus of staff. The means that by the end of 1919 accumulated stocks will reach 80,000,000 quintals, equivalent to the quantity exported during the past two years. No sale likelihood (says the Pall Mall Gazette) of the shipping position easing up in the future to relieve the pressure, the situation, and several of the officines now working will assuredly have to close down before long.

There is still a pause in the output of new capital issues, both on the part of the borrowers and of the established concerns seeking to extend their borders. This is only natural during the month of August, considering the season of the year. The flow was checked during the period of the War Loan subscription, and many of the new issues which were then announced activity for a week or two, with the advent of the holiday season, and it is only to be expected that promoters should hold their hand. Now and again the unpropitious time is ignored, and an appeal to the public is made, but for the most part there is disposition to await the end of the summer vacation. Then there is likely to be quite a number of issues, especially in the industrial group. The money market has been less activity in the shares newly introduced concerns, and as usual, that has led to some stiffening away of prices; but, taking the whole list of promotions in recent months, there are only a few out-standing at a discount. This speaks well for the character of the flotations. Credit Foncier announces premiums, such, for instance, as the Magadi Soda Debentures, which are quoted above 17 items, and the British Insurance Shares (4/6 paid), which are 10/- prem., Petters Ordinary at 4/- prem. and so on. There is plenty of money for sound propositions, and certainly for those which are suitable for approved securities, vestment brokers look for a busy time for the week with confidence.

An item of news of great interest to Argentine Railway proprietors comes from the land. The Buenos Ayres Great Southern Railway Company has received a copy of the text of its representatives in Buenos Ayres advising that the new law has now been passed defining the limitations of all the Congress' power to levy municipal taxation referred to in Article 8 of the Mitre Law. The exemption from taxation dates back to that year which ended on the Sunday. Observer, sometimes all taxes, rates, and contributions of every description, with the exception of (1) provision of water supply actually received and sewage services, (2) contribution to the pension fund, (3) stamp duties on the transfer of property, (4) taxes on the cost of paving works affected within the limits of urban centres. Though active business cannot be expected for some time to come, the outlook, appears distinctly brighter. The labour situation is not settled, as shown by the fresh demands of a section of the railwaymen, but we believe that the worst of the trouble is over, and that the situation should improve slowly, but steadily.

FRESH MEAT IMPORTS.

The past week's returns show large imports of fresh meat, considerably in excess of those of the previous week, from the various North and South American and Colonial ports. The following vessels landed carcases:—The Rooiloa, from Gregory Bay, 151,946 carcases of mutton; the Devon, from Australia (discharged at Manchester), 2,450 quarters of beef, 50,649 mutton and lamb carcases, 29,400 casks and packages of mutton; the Demerara, from Buenos Ayres, 55,501 packages of beef, 5,528 mutton and lamb carcases, 2,972 packages of mutton, and 511 park carcases; the Minorski, from Montevideo, 583 packages of beef; the Calif, from Montreal, 900 cases of meat, the Regina, from Boston, 1,707 boxes of meat; the Tilberoon, from Baltimore, 2,434 boxes of beef and 917 boxes of meat. These figures give a total of 315,958 mutton and lamb carcases, 8,478 sides of mutton, 29,406 casks and packages of mutton, 2,434 quarters of beef, 50,649 boxes and packages of beef, 8,951 boxes and cases of meat, and 511 carcases of pork.

THE CONTROL OF MAIZE.

The Food Controller has decided to repose control of the importation of maize flour and maize meal, and has requested the Royal Commission on Wheat Supplies to take the necessary action.

A Kalgoorlie (West Australia) telegram, dated Friday, states—As a sequence to the disturbances that have occurred here after the murder of an ex-soldier by an Italian, returned soldiers have issued a demand that all single Italians should leave the goldfields by to-morrow. Married Italians, however, are still to be allowed to work in the mines.

MARKET REPORTS.

GRAIN.—CARLISLE, Saturday.—Old oats nearly exhausted, and a few bags forward. New crop oats were expected to-day, but only a chance initial sample forward, and though the inquiry is keen, in anticipation of next Saturday's supply, there is as yet no established quotation. Nominal.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES.—BALTIC, Saturday.—Market quiet, and no official offers of WHEAT or MAIZE put forward to London. BARLEY steady. American parcels, prompt 440s; afloat nominal 17/6. No. 4 Canada, October, 47s. 6d. September-October and October-November 46s. 6d. OATS steady. American, prompt 36s. 6d.; afloat 38s. and La Plata 37s. 6d. September-October 40s. Lea., per 340lbs.

LIVERPOOL, Saturday.—There were no c.i.f. parcels of wheat or maize put on by the Government to-day, but prices were unchanged nominal. WHEAT on the spot ruled quiet but steady on yesterday's market currencies. MAIZE also a private enquiry existed, but no sellers. FLOUR met a fair demand, and business was done at unchanged rates. American flour, March-April deaner, 70/9 per qr. being realised for parcels afloat. All contracts with respect to the recent shortage of River Plate maize allow by the Royal Commission are now completed. Imports of grain (corn) :—To-day—Wheat, 44,858 qrs.; flour, 12,525; maize, 7,000; barley, 1,000; oats, 4,000; beans, 1,000; peas, 1,000. Total—Wheat, 61,383; maize, 6,578; peas, 10,527; beans, 1,000; barley, 9,035,051; flour, 1,309,089; maize, 1,747,563; peas, 112,949; beans, 351,966.

CATTLE.—DONCASTER, Saturday.—A meagre supply of cattle, choice veal and young sheep, a larger supply of sheep, trade slow, but prices firm. Mick Smith made 50/- per head more for 6 Scotch Blackfaces and heifers unchanged; young stores, £14 to £20 per head; sheep, 64/- to 65/-; Lincoln lambs, 50/- to 58/-; and halfbred lambs, 52/- to 64/-; Cheviot lambs, 54/- to 60/-; pure-bred lambs nearly 10/- per head; pigs, 55/- to 45/- each.

NORWICH, Saturday.—Very small supply of fat cattle, which were lacking in finish. The supply of sheep was not large, and trade was slow. Prices were very few pigs shown. A good show of store cattle of fair quality. Prices were slow, best quality making up to £37 10/- per head. The supply of store sheep was quite equal to the demand, and included several lots of half-bred Lincoln. home-bred lambs made to 70/-, while breeding ewes were a slow deal trade up to 120/- per head. Demand for the few store pigs on offer showed little change on the last week.

PROVISIONS.—DUBLIN VEGETABLE, Saturday.—A very small week-end market. Prices for leading features as follow, but for the main supply much as yesterday's:—Cabbage, young (tons of tubs weighing York cabbages, 25/- to 70/- per ton; cauliflowers, nists, 2/9 to 3/- per dozen; carrots, 1/6 per dozen bunches; turnips from 5d. to 1/- per bundle; lettuce from 4d. to 6d. per dozen; Leeks, 1/- per dozen bunches; parsley, 1/- per dozen bunches; spring onions, 4s. to 5/- per cwt.

LIVERPOOL.—BACON.—Values for Irish Wiltshire sides on Changes showed a further heavy "slump," and currents of supply were in excess of requirements. Inquiries in specialities produced no response. Thin, medium, and heavy sections were neglected, and stocks in wholesalers' hands only moderate. Future arrivals might be forgotten as far as they were concerned. Small quantities are promised for next week, which will not prevent sections being handled at a loss. Hams, middles, and shoulders, in disposing of wholesalers' stocks, are also affected by the general depression current. LARD on the spot is somewhat scarce, and sells at about 140s. per cwt., to execution having so far been received by the Ministry of Food. CHEESE in fair request, 130s. per cwt. for finest colored, and 125s. per cwt. for white, and 150s. to 160s. per cwt. for fine patents. BUTTER in good request, and prices firm. Finest Irish, 240s. per cwt.; finest Danish, 260s. per cwt.; finest Australian, 260s. per cwt.; finest New Zealand, 260s. per cwt.

BUTTER.—COBH, Saturday.—Firsts, 272/-; firsts, 270/-; second, 268/-; thirds, 280/-.

BUTTER.—LIVERPOOL, Saturday.—COCOA continues to be well held, and a good inquiry exists for forward deliveries, but spot is dull. Fair sales COFFEE remains firm, but the demand is restricted. SUGAR is unchanged. RUBBER quiet. LINSEED attracts little notice from buyers, but a steady business is done. TURPENTINE is firm, but there is no business comme, and little of importance is passing. RICE is firm, but quiet. SAGO FLOUR—Actual parcels are unchanged. SAGO FLOUR—Actual parcels are unchanged. TAPIOCA is firm, but quiet. PALM OIL is firm. Sudan holders remain steady at 55-6 5/-; per cwt., and Lagos at £57 10/- per ton. PALM KERNELS are firm. JAPANESE PARINA comes off very quiet, and prices are nominally unchanged. COPRA is firm, but quiet, 42/- per cwt. for parcels on the spot. COTTONSEED OIL is firm, but quiet for actual sales, but there is only a quiet demand for consumption. PALM KERNELS are neglected, with prices nominally unchanged. CASTOR OIL is firm, but quiet, with no business reasoning on a very limited scale. TALLOW is steady, but quiet. RESIN is firm, but quiet. TURPENTINE is firm, but quiet
